

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE AND LIFE SCIENCES
GLOBAL PROGRAMS
 VIRGINIA TECH.

CALS GLOBAL SYMPOSIUM

Agricultural Science Communication Symposium &

APECS Project Launch

Closing the gaps in agricultural research dissemination through effective science communication: Insights from East Africa and the United States

More Information

FEBRUARY 16, 2024

3.00 PM - 4.30 PM EAT
 7.00 AM - 8.30 AM EST

Speakers

ANTHONY EGERU, PHD

Associate Professor & Project Manager,
 The Regional Universities Forum for Capacity Building in Agriculture
 (RUFORUM)

JACQUELINE AENLLE, PHD

Assistant Professor
 Agricultural Communication and Journalism
 Kansas State University

JEAN PARRELLA, PHD

Assistant Professor
 Life Sciences Communication
 Virginia Tech

LOUREEN AWUOR

Chief of Staff & Head of Partnerships
 The Kenya National Farmers'
 Federation (KENAFF)

FREE REGISTRATION

Email inquiry:
 odickson@vt.edu

Social Media:

#APECS2024

@VTCALSGlobal
 @CESAAM_Egerton

Project description:

The Agricultural Productivity Enhancement and Communicating Science (APECS) Project (funded by USDA-FAS) focuses on building the capacity and providing experiential learning opportunities for early-career agricultural researchers. The ultimate goal is to bridge communication gaps in agricultural science, facilitating the translation of scientific knowledge into policy and promoting the adoption of agricultural technologies.